Meet our CFS 2nd Annual Spring Show Judge

Armando Lee TBD

Finch Judge

NFSS

Hello my name is Armando J. Lee and I would like to take the opportunity to thank you for selecting me to judge your Finches and Softbill Division.

I've had many different types of birds as pets since I was 10 years old.

In 1985 I began breeding finches and canaries to exhibit at shows.

Because I reside in Southwest Florida I am able to keep my birds in the outdoor section of my aviary all year. However, I set my breeding pairs indoors.

I am a Panel Judge for the National Finch and Softbill Society and the National Colorbred Association. I have judged several times in Orlando, Ft. Lauderdale, Tampa and Miami in Florida, Chicago, Georgia, Missouri, New Orleans, North Carolina, Pennsylvania, Texas, Washington, Puerto Rico and Canada. I am honored to have been chosen to judge the National Cage Bird Show and the Great American Bird Show.

My wife, who also shares an interest in birds, usually accompanies me to as many bird shows as possible. We both enjoy traveling and the wonderful friends we have made through this hobby.

Professionally, I am a Certified General Contractor and a Licensed Real Estate Broker. I am employed in our family business.

I am looking forward to greeting old friends in Texas and to the opportunity of making new ones.

I wish all exhibitors, the directors, and members the very best in this forthcoming show.

Sincerely,

Armando J. Lee

Cherry Finch

The Plum-headed Finch (Neochmia modesta)

Description: The Plum-headed Finch (Neochmia modesta) also known as Cherry Finch is a common species of estrildid finch found in Australia. It is found in dry savannah and sub-tropical/tropical (lowland) dry shrubland in Australia. Cherry Finches for sale prefer an aviary with shrubs and tall growing grasses.

Geography: Australia

Song/Call: Click to hear the song of the Cherry Finch

Size: 4.33"

Lifespan: 7 to 8 years

Sexing: The Cherry Finches are easily sexed. The female is similar to the male but lacks the male's black chin spot.

Temperament: Cherry Finches are non aggressive in a mixed aviary. They are hardy birds who breed well and are happiest in a small aviary or large planted aviary.

Breeding: The plum-headed finch breeds mainly from September to January in the south and from August to March in the north. The nest is round, laterally compressed chamber of green grass and is built in thick bushes. Four to six pure white eggs are laid. They will breed all year round if conditions are suitable and a compatible pair would be good for a beginner / intermediate level bird-keeper. Can be bred as a colony or one pair can be bred in a large canary style cage.

Diet: Classic Finch Seed, Australian Blend Goldenfeast, Dried Egg Food, Mineral Grit, Millet Sprays, Cuttlefish Bone

Spanish Timbrado Canary

The Spanish Timbrado Canary is the newest breed of song canary, developed in Spain in the 1940's and 1950's. It is also considered to be the purest domestic form of canary. Being closest genetically to the original wild canary as it was developed by crossing the wild canary with the song bird of Spain.

The name Timbrado derives from the timbre of the canary's metallic voice, reminiscent of castanets, the traditional instruments used in much of Spain's folk music.

The song of this canary consists of twelve notes. Their song must be loud, metallic, bright, and harmonious. Negatives in the song are screeches, strained sounds, and nasal sounds. Standards for three types of songs have been established; the original known as 'Classical' line, the 'Floreado line', and the 'Intermediate' line which falls between the other two. This canaries can be trained to sing on cue.

Canaries of both sexes can begin to sing a weak song as early as four weeks. However, females usually don't sing until after about six months and won't have the full long song of a male.

These are songbirds and are to be enjoyed as such. They don't like to be handled, but should be enjoyed for their beautiful song.
